INDEPENDENCE DAY PROGRAM TO ATTRACT RECORD CROWD

U. N. Commander-In-Chief Accepts July 10 As Date for Starting of Cease-Fire Talks

Answer from Chinese and North Korean Commanders Is Awaited by Allied Chief

Tokyo, July 3.—(P)—The Allied command agreed today to an armistice meeting next week with the Reds in Korea—and tried to speed it up to stop the killing war.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway proposed a preliminary meeting Thursday.

The United Nations commander-in-chief accepted July 10 as the time for cease-fire talks. He said he would like to meet sooner if the Communists can make it. July 10 was the earliest date proposed by the Reds' top generals.

Ridgway agreed to their suggestion that negotiators meet in Kaesong, ancient Korean capital near the 38th parallel, instead of aboard a Danish hospital ship as he had proposed.

A reply from the Chinese and North Korean commanders was hoped for soon. None had been reported by 11:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. EST), nine hours after U. N. radio began broadcasting Ridgway's message.

His message was the third in preliminary radio exchanges between opposing commanders.

Ridgway stressed speed to halt the 53-week-old war. He said: "Delay in initiating the meetings and in reaching agreement will prolong the fighting and increase the losses."

There was no break in the fighting. Nor in disagreement between opposing commanders.

The Chinese Reds' Peiping radio said the cease fire would be on the 38th parallel. President Syngman Rhee of South Korea said "we cannot accept" an armistice on the 38th parallel, old dividing line of Communist and Republican Korea.

Dispatches from the front lines told of one of the longest artillery duels of the war fought on the eastern front.

Former National League Pitching Star Takes Own Life by Shooting in Atlanta

Atlanta, July 3.—(P)—Hugh Casey, former major league pitching star, committed suicide in a hotel here early today, Lt. C. R. Fleming of the Atlanta police reported.

Fleming said Casey's body was found with a .16 gauge shotgun wound in the neck.

The officer said ill health apparently led the great relief pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers to take his own life. Casey was known to have been in poor health for some time.

Casey was talking by phone to his wife in their Atlanta home when he fired the blast that took his life, Fleming said.

Mrs. Casey told officers she heard the blast that took her husband's life.

Fleming quoted a bell boy at the (Atlantian) hotel, where the former mound star registered last week, as saying Casey told him Saturday that his physician had given him only about 10 days to live because of a heart ailment.

Gordon McNabb, a friend, told police Casey telephoned him shortly after midnight and said he planned to kill himself. McNabb, officers related, sought to dissuade Casey, then hurried to the hotel.

When McNabb was about 30 feet from the door to Casey's room he heard the blast. McNabb said Casey had made similar threats for the past three days.

Police Captain Marvin Thomas said Mrs. Casey told him she had tried to persuade Casey not to take his life. The Caseys had not been living together, Capt. Thomas said.

TROLLEY ACCIDENT

Pittsburgh, July 3.—(P)—Three persons were injured, one critically, when a Castle Shannon interurban streetcar collided with the rear of another trolley on the Smithfield street bridge today.

Mrs. Dorothy Ashby, 32, of Castle Shannon, is being detained at Mercy Hospital for observation. Police said she was unconscious from her injuries.

SPY CHARGES REFUTED BY U. S. WRITER

Frankfurt, Germany, July 3.—(P)—William N. Oatis denied a Communist prosecutor's charge yesterday that he had taken over an "espionage network" when he became Associated Press bureau chief in Prague. But he told the court trying him on anti-state charges that he had been a spy.

The prosecutor, who depicted Oatis as a link in a spy ring including former Prague correspondents of the Reuters News Agency (British), the French Press Agency and United Press, indicated he would call 11 witnesses to the stand today.

Among them are several Czech writers, former employees of Pan American Airways and the United Press; Josef Havelka, alleged murderer of a Czech security officer; Lydia Votavova, former P. employe, and Matej Kubik, former Hotel Alcon bartender.

Oatis, first American newspaperman to be tried behind the Iron curtain in Europe, testified yesterday in gloomy Pankrac prison where he has been held incommunicado since April 23. He is charged with activities hostile to the state.

The 37-year-old native of Marion, Ind., looked pale and strained as he took the stand. Led into the courtroom without the glasses he usually wears, he spoke slowly and in a firm voice, never looking at the spectators.

He is very near sighted and without his glasses can see very little.

FAIRLY NICE FUNERAL FOR DEAD MURDERER

Flemington, N. J., July 3.—(P)—Warren Lee Irwin, whose sordid trail of murder, rape and kidnap ended with his suicide here, will get a "fairly nice burial" if present arrangements go through, police said last night.

Det. Sgt. John L. Updike of the state police said a local funeral home, where the 27-year-old scar-faced gunman's body is being held, talked by telephone yesterday with Irwin's mother in Detroit.

Mrs. Marie Irwin agreed to finance a burial here but added she would not attend it, Updike said. The funeral home was awaiting a telegram of confirmation from Mrs. Irwin. In Detroit, she said she had sent money to cover burial costs.

NEW CASTLE FATALITY

New Castle, July 3.—(P)—An auto smashed into a tree at Cascade Park early today, killing James E. Clark, 24, of New Castle, and slightly injuring Jay Courson, 27, also of New Castle.

Sparkman Against Any Peace Making 38th Parallel International Boundary

Washington, July 3.—(P)—Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today the United States must not accept any peace agreement that makes the 38th Parallel an international boundary between two Koreas.

Sparkman, a Senate Foreign Relations committee member, spoke out after State Department officials said they are moving cautiously toward possible cease-fire negotiations.

Dean Rusk, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, told reporters yesterday that despite the Communist offer to meet a representative of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, "as much caution still

28th to Participate in Southern Maneuvers

Camp Atterbury, Ind., July 3.—(P)—The 28th Division will leave during August and early September to participate in the joint Army-Air "Southern Pine" maneuvers at Fort Bragg, N. C., division headquarters announced today.

An advance detachment will leave this month. Troop trains and motor convoys will carry the main body of the Pennsylvania Division to North Carolina early in August.

Government Again Sliding Back Into Red After Surplus

Washington, July 3.—(P)—The government began sliding back into the red today after chalking up a $3,509,782,624.25 budget surplus for fiscal 1951, ended Sunday.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, who announced the final 1951 figures yesterday, said government spending may exceed income as much as $3,500,000,000 over the next three months. Expenditures in July, August and September will continue heavy but tax receipts will be seasonally light.

Furthermore, Snyder predicted, fiscal 1952 as a whole will pile up a $10,000,000,000 deficit unless appropriate new taxes are enacted as soon as possible. The House has voted a $7,200,000,000 tax hike. The senate gives indication.

Resurfacing of Market Street to Be Started July 11, Council Is Informed

The State Highway Department expects to start resurfacing of upper Market street on Wednesday, July 11.

This was reported to Warren Borough councilmen at their July meeting in the municipal building last night.

Another project, that of painting the Third and Fifth avenue bridges across Conewago creek is expected to get under way on Monday, July 9. The Jerry Quirk Co. of Erie has the contract for this work.

Good progress also was reported on painting of the exterior of the Municipal building and the woodwork at the Central Fire Station.

The painting is being done on contract by T. J. Scallie. On recommendation of the City Building and Building Code Committee, the same contractor was authorized to paint the locker room and the cell blocks of the municipal building at a cost of $190.

The Parks and Playgrounds committee reported the public rest rooms now being constructed on War Memorial Field are expected to be ready for use for the big Fourth of July program at the field tomorrow.

Councilman George Klinefister, chairman of the Streets committee, said he had been approached by a Chamber of Commerce representative relative to getting approval of council for an opening to be made on the Liberty street bridge across the mill race so that a proposed parking lot in the mill race area could be put into full use.

Klinefister said he couldn't recommend this until the project is cleared with the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters. Borough officials feel that the fill work that has been done along the mill race to create the parking lot must be approved by the State Department before the owner, John O. Hanna, can be authorized to construct an access ramp to the Liberty street bridge.

It also was reported that the agreement between the borough and the New York Central railroad regarding resurfacing of a section of Fourth avenue, has not been signed, and that advertising for bids will be delayed until the agreement is signed.

The Streets committee and the borough manager also were discussed.

WILSON URGES APPROVAL OF TAX INCREASE

Washington, July 3.—(P)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson told the tax-writing senate finance committee today a Korean truce "will have no effect" on the nation's preparedness program.

That program, he declared, "must be based, not upon the Korean fighting, but upon what we know to be the ultimate aims and present tactics of the Soviet Union."

"Until we know that there is a genuine change in the long-term aims of world Communism, we cannot afford to slow the pace of our own defense build-up and our aid to other countries."

Wilson urged the committee to approve the $10,000,000,000 tax boost which President Truman has asked.

As to the rearmament program, Wilson said "frankly x x x I am not satisfied with our progress in achieving defense production." He added he was taking numerous steps to speed up output.

Wilson said orders for military goods and facilities have totaled $42,000,000,000 since the Korean war began. He summed up:

Contracts still are being let at the rate of $3,500,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 a month. Deliveries now are at the level of $1,500,000,000 a month but are expected to reach $4,000,000,000 a month in a year.

Four Apprehended by Sheriff's Office And State Police for Theft of Valves

Deputy Sheriff Sandy Secor and state police traveled over 1,000 miles in the past few days to crack a burglary case which resulted in the arrest of four men, charged with stealing about $2,000 worth of machined brass valve parts from a warehouse of the Northern Ordnance Company, near Grand Valley in Eldred township.

The thieves allegedly received $104 from sale of the stolen parts, which will be difficult to replace. Recovery of the parts has been made almost impossible, due to the fact that by time officers received information as to their location, most of them had been melted down into brass ingots.

The men arrested were: Ray I. Baker, 25, of Franklin Star Route; Bruce A. Baker, 27, 321 E. Spring street, Titusville; William L. Shadle, 44, 804 Mahler street, Titusville; and Lewis D. Brown, 25, of Franklin Star Route.

Gigantic Parade, Drum Corps Contest, Model Plane Exhibit And Fireworks Are Scheduled

A record crowd is expected in Warren for the spectacular Independence Day celebration that has been arranged through a committee sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Traditional events on the schedule for the day include a 22-division parade forming at ten o'clock and moving promptly at eleven. A checkup of the "Official Parade Orders" indicates that there are between 25 and 30 musical organizations listed, including bands and drum corps units. After the parade will be the program at Warren War Memorial Field, starting at one o'clock with exhibitions by drill teams, Class C drum corps units, etc., followed by the drum corps competition with a half dozen organizations competing, a number of which have won national honors.

At seven o'clock in the evening, at Beatty Field a model plane exhibition, will provide entertainment before the shooting of the sensational fireworks display, which should get under way about 9:45 o'clock, depending upon how early darkness sets in.

The fireworks will be followed by the "grand finale" which should be of interest to every person in the community and surrounding area, since all will be invited to participate.

The Kids Koaster Classics postponed from last Saturday afternoon, is scheduled to start at six o'clock this evening in Carver street, above Madison. A large crowd is anticipated and the committee in charge again solicits the cooperation of all, in efforts to avoid accidents or property damage.

The day's events will be started with a "bang" at six o'clock when the fireworks committee will set off a number of salutes at War Memorial Field.

The celebration committee will gather at eight o'clock at the Beebe Restaurant for breakfast and last-minute check-up, while

Crowd Estimated At Four Thousand Sees Variety Show

The large lawn in front of Beatty Junior High School and extending to Third avenue was jammed with thousands of spectators last night to see the annual Fourth of July Celebration Variety Show.

Visitors in the crowd who are experienced in judging crowds reported an estimated four thousand persons watched the show.

The nine acts which appeared on the show were recruited by the Jaycees mainly from the surrounding communities and many were seen and heard for the first time in Warren. Among the headliners was George Johnson, piano-humorist of this city, who entertained with his comedy and piano selections.

Other stellar acts included the Tilton Sisters from Spartansburg, a singing duo, which reached the finals in the Hollywood Star Discovery Contest and competed last week in Pittsburgh; Janet Gully Towne, impersonator from Tidouche; and Anderson and Fox of Jamestown and Russell who caught the fancy of the crowd with their clowning and Swedish songs.

Jim O'Donnell, young baritone from Royston accompanied by Mary Konastoba was another featured performer as was Bob Alsop, youthful folk singer who lives in Scandia. Rounding out the program were the Sucky Brothers Trio from Sinclairville, Morgan and Crosby, jugglers from Jamestown and Haas Hoover with his horse, Sparkies.

Providing the musical accompaniment and interludes for the show was the Ford Winner orchestra.

"Nation Must Not Relax in Efforts to Strengthen Free World" Harriman Warns

Philadelphia, July 3.—(P)—W. Averell Harriman, in an Independence Day message to Americans, says the nation must not "relax a single day in its efforts to strengthen the free world," even though the end of the Korean war may be in sight.

President Truman's special adviser on foreign affairs asserted last night it is possible to avert another world war "if we provide leadership for the free world and see to it that our Allies and ourselves are prepared to fight at any time, at any place, in defense of liberty."

Harriman, just back from a fresh survey of conditions in Europe, addressed a dinner gathering honoring the 13 original states.

As the jubilee continues, the Navy joins in celebration of an anniversary of its own today—the 150th birthday of the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, oldest Navy facility in the country. The city, already arrayed elaborately in patriotic colors, will take on new festive luster for a three-hour "freedom parade."

Men of all the armed services, the women's units and military groups representing Atlantic Pact nations will be in the cavalcade. Great floats, banked with flowers, will symbolize America's early history. Some 20 bands will play for the marchers—among them 68 units of the Centennial Legion, many of which serve as honor guards to the governors of the charter states. The Navy is sending into spectacular display an armada of air power, including jets.

The jubilee closes tomorrow with a dramatic re-declaration of Independence in the famous hall where the document which Thomas Jefferson wrote was signed.

PRISON TERMS FACE ANYONE AIDING REDS

Washington, July 3.—(P)—Attorney General McGrath today threatened to prosecute anyone helping the four fugitive officials of the Communist party to evade arrest.

McGrath warned, in a statement, that "any person concealing a fugitive from justice is liable to federal prosecution."

He noted the law provides fines of $1,000 and six months prison terms, or both for persons convicted of such concealment.

McGrath's statement followed a vain 24-hour hunt by the FBI for four leaders of the party who failed to show up in federal court at New York yesterday to start serving prison sentences for advocating violent overthrow of the government.

When the four again failed to appear today, after warrants for their arrests were issued, the court forfeited their bonds, totalling $80,000.

Seven other convicted party leaders surrendered yesterday and started their terms.

Speculation continued here that the missing four may have skipped the country.

They are Henry Winston, Communist organizational secretary; Robert G. Thompson, New York state chairman; Gus Hall, Ohio state chairman; and Gus Hall, Ohio state chairman.

Six Hurt When Bee Stings Auto Driver

East Greenbush, N. Y., July 3.—(P)—A bee stung the driver of an automobile last night and this was the result: Three cars and a truck cracked up and six persons were injured slightly.

The stinger hit Dr. Daniel F. O'Keefe, 62, of Albany, on the face as his car was approaching a traffic light.

Then, state police said, the physician's car hit the automobile in front of him. The second car bumped the car ahead and the latter hit a truck.

Dr. O'Keefe suffered a fractured rib.

Rookie Cop Slays Man In Gun Battle

Pittsburgh, July 3.—(P)—A rookie policeman who was shot by a negro he surprised in a service station last midnight killed the man in a gun battle.

Homicide detectives identified the negro as Marion Williams, 26, of Washington, D. C.

Patrolman Regis O'Malley, 28, was shot in the hip but is not in serious condition.

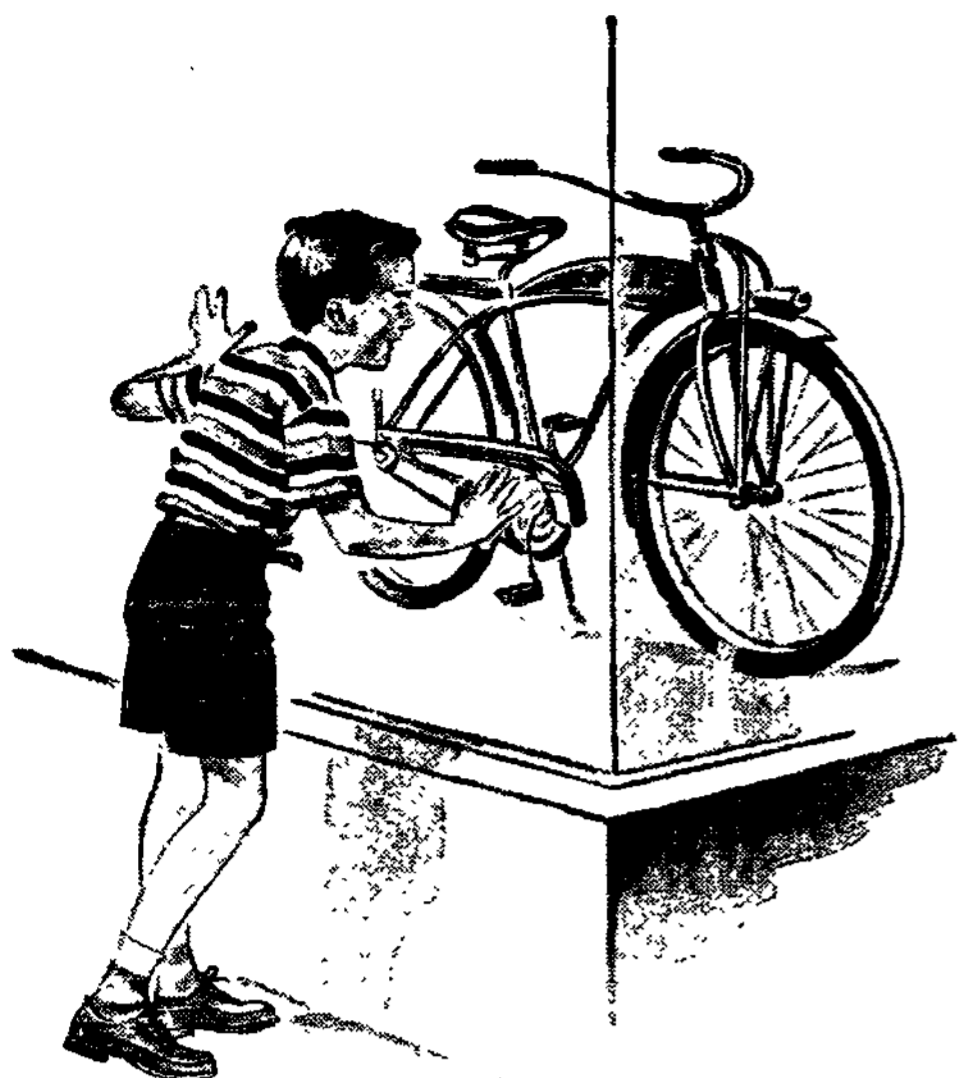

O'Malley said he was walking his beat when he walked toward a service station to see why a light was out. He said he surprised Williams inside the station, adding:

"I saw him crawling out the rear window and told him to halt. Instead, he opened fire and I was hit. I fired twice and he fell."

Neighbors called police who found O'Malley lying wounded on the ground and Williams dead.

George Malec, Starbuck, was rushed to Warren General Hospital in the Templeton ambulance shortly after noon today after he had suffered a heart attack at his home. He was admitted for observation and treatment.

Simple Arithmetic

A few years ago, Johnny's savings would have bought the bike he's longed for.

Today, the same amount will cover only about half the cost.

But don't blame the man who makes bicycles or the man who sells them. Blame the dollar! It just won't buy what it used to!

We are feeling the pinch, too.

The cost of supplies and equipment used in the telephone business is going up and up, just like the cost of supplies and equipment for other businesses.

In spite of this, we have been able to provide good, low-cost telephone service that continues to grow in value.

Even if it should cost more, your telephone service, in comparison with other things, would still be a big, big bargain.

BARN DESTROYED

A barn on the farm of Andrew Homan, Jackson street extension, was totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin about midnight Sunday. The loss was only partially covered by insurance. Mr. Homan told the Times-Mirror that it is thought that lightning was responsible for starting the blaze, which was not discovered until the structure was too far gone to save. In the barn were about eight tons of hay and some heavy sleds. Livestock housed in the barn had been turned out for the night. Neighbors, who came to aid, prevented horses from re-entering the burning building. The barn was a 40 x 48 foot structure erected on a stone base.

And I'm sure it was a prayer answered for many of us who looked at the river for years and hoped someday it could be used for our entertainment in some way.

BEHIND THE SCENES—Part of the large committee of Jaycees and the Citizens Group which has worked for many months mapping plans for the community's big Fourth of July celebration. There are many other faithful workers on the committee, but these fellows happened to be the ones present when the Times-Mirror photographer stopped at the American Legion Home, "unofficial celebration headquarters".

Celebration Notes

Tonight!
Six O'clock!
Kids Koaster Classics!
In North Carver Street!

Tomorrow — Independence Day salute, six a. m.; committee breakfast, Orrie Beebe restaurant, eight o'clock; parade forms at ten o'clock; parade moves at eleven; visiting bands and drum corps units lunch at Beaty School between 11:30 and 12:45; band and drum corps exhibitions, War Memorial Field, one o'clock; drum corps competition, two o'clock; model airplane exhibition, Beaty Field, six o'clock; spectacular fireworks display, 9:45; grand finale, eleven o'clock.

Commander Ralph Akers requests all members of Dinsmoor-Schwing Post No. 631, VFW, to report at Post rooms at ten o'clock Wednesday morning to participate in the parade.

"The committee is receiving wonderful cooperation from morticians in Warren, in offering use of ambulances. Every person whether participant or marcher is urged to keep in mind the following assignments of ambulances for Wednesday morning: The Peterson ambulance will be at the Pennzoil Service Station in the center of town; Templeton's will be at the Blue Sunoco station on the east side; Gibson's will be in the garage at the funeral home for emergency call, and the Lutz-VerMilyea ambulance will be in Liberty street at Pennsylvania avenue, in front of the First Aid Station in the Fenelec building.

A late entry for the parade and exhibition at Memorial Field in the afternoon were the Erie Elks Girls Drum & Bugle Corps and White Squadron marching unit. The committee has been assured they will be in Warren at or about ten o'clock tomorrow.

May we suggest again that the "Official Parade Orders" to be found on another page of this issue be clipped for reference tomorrow morning.

Last night's Variety Show compared favorably with others the Jaycees have presented in past years, indicating that there is plenty of talent willing to give of their time and ability to help promote such a celebration.

This will be "Ladies' Night" for the Jaycees and others on the committee, since it has been decided that wives will be welcome and it is hoped there will be a large number of them on hand when Chairman Jack Barr calls the meeting to order at 9:30 o'clock.

East-minute reminder to every one participating in the parade, either as division chief, aide, driver of vehicle, or marcher—the parade forms at ten o'clock, and will move promptly at eleven. This is a tradition with those in charge, and will be strictly adhered to Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Highhouse are handling the concessions as authorized representatives of the Jaycees and your patronage is cordially solicited.

It will be first come first served at War Memorial Field Wednesday afternoon for the exhibition beginning at one o'clock, followed by the drum corps competition at two. Because of the large number of attendants required, and the confusion resulting in attempting to sell a section of chairs as reserved seats, it was decided this part of the project would be abandoned this year. Incidentally the admission charge at the gate will be well worth the price and will be needed to help make up a possible deficit facing the committee.

According to "The Occasional", State Hospital publication printed in the interest of patients, employees and staff, two large buses will bring the affiliate nurses to the starting point of the parade Wednesday morning and meet them at the disbanding spot; more than seventy student nurses representing eleven affiliate schools, will be in the line. Each group will carry a placard giving the name of their respective hospital. The article adds this comment: "Sponsored by Warren's Junior Chamber of Commerce, this annual spectacle deserves the support of all citizens of the area."

Watch for those convertibles carrying attractive young girls in shorts. The girls will "proposition" you on a plan to aid the celebration fund. Don't turn them down. The Jaycees need the money.

INDEPENDENCE DAY - - - 1951!

All Americans cherish the way their ancestors wrested their freedom from the British. Independence Day symbolizes that feeling of pride.

With the menace of Communist Russia abroad in the world, it is particularly fitting that we rededicate ourselves each year to that spirit of independence. We cannot be too zealous in guarding the freedom we fought so bravely to win nearly 200 years ago.

With our long heralded tradition of freedom and independence, we have served the world as model. More than this, we have lent moral and sometimes practical support to other peoples struggling to gain their own independence.

At the peace conference following World War I, "self-determination"—the right of a people to govern themselves—was strongly championed by President Woodrow Wilson. The peace treaties marked the birth of a number of new nations.

Some will say we pushed this movement for independence too far, that we assisted in creation of countries not yet equipped politically to govern themselves and incapable of supplying more than a fair fraction of their fundamental economic needs. Austria, a tiny frame for huge Vienna, is cited as example.

But actually the problem thus created is merely the same economic and political disunity which haunts the whole of Europe. The small nations are but exaggerated illustrations.

The ultimate solution apparently lies in some kind of European federation which will yet allow independence-loving peoples a large measure of self-government and cultural distinction.

Of more pressing concern right now is the upsurge of independence in the Asiatic world. A long smoldering spirit has at last broken the surface. World War II, smashing the colonial mold in the Orient, provided the final explosive force. It precipitated a social and political revolution that is engulfing Asia.

The Asiatics today are peoples who want a better life for themselves, and they want to be the ones to decide what sort of life it shall be.

This we must understand. Some of us see Asia as a land which must be "shown" the ways of democracy. But the Asiatics associate westerners with colonialism, and we cannot hope to eradicate quickly their bitter memories of past oppression.

In keeping with our tradition of helping others to independence, we must be wholly sympathetic to their self-governing impulses. We must lend every aid we can, but without seeking in any fashion to impose upon them any part of our own pattern of life. They have to judge for themselves what we have that they might wish to copy.

So far we Americans have not been too aware of the depth and strength of Asia's postwar stirrings. This day of independence here is a good day to resolve that once more the United States will stand with the seekers after independence—as we have always done before.

TIME FOR CAUTION

Indications are that one of the largest crowds ever to visit the community will be in Warren Wednesday for the Independence Day parade in the morning, the colorful program at Memorial Field in the afternoon and for the spectacular fireworks display in the evening. Every effort will be made by officials in charge, augmented by the Warren police department and other authorities to avert accidents, but it will require the wholehearted cooperation of every individual to keep accidents to a minimum.

The calendar will save lives this year, since the Fourth falls in mid-week, bringing only a one-day holiday for most persons. But even so this annual celebration of our national independence will bring tragedy and death to many Americans.

The traffic accident death toll already is up 10 per cent this year. Add to that the heavy travel and recreational activity of a holiday and the Fourth remains on the nation's danger day list.

The police alone cannot curb accidents without the wholehearted support of the nation's motorists—the very people whose lives are at stake.

There is much talk today about preserving the American way of life. If we are to preserve American lives we must set up voluntary controls over carelessness.

'We Hold These Truths to Be Self-Evident'

Here And There

Only the oldest of old-time residents will remember Fannie Irvine, poet and writer, who contributed poems and other articles to The Warren Ledger sixty years ago. Here's a poem over her signature that was printed in The Ledger July 3, 1891, under the heading "Fourth of July":

Let the loud cannon roar,
Raise our banners high
And the joy bells ring glad tidings,
Until they reach the sky.

Each heart respects the world,
All and every way,
We'll spend the time right joyfully,
On our Independence Day!

Our sires who fought the battle,
Making the bondsmen free,
Columbia's Stars and Stripes,
Float grandly upon the sea.

Such patriots as these,
Whose names will never die
As long as memory lasts,
Of Fourth of best July.

Unfold the flag,
Let fly the squib and rocket,
Give alms unto the poor,
Stint not the independent pocket.

Follow in these simple joys
Surely we can say

We've done what Father meant
On this happy day.

So hurrah! hurrah! hurrah!
Let all that's standing by,
Join together in a shout
For Glorious Fourth of July!

All honor to the men
Who freed a nation,
From an iron chain,
By boldly signing their freedom's declaration.

This 'N That: 'In the same issue from which the above was taken we find this item: Corry, Meadville, and Erie are laying plans for a grand and glorious Fourth of July celebration. On the other hand Franklin, Oil City, Titusville and Warren will have no extra drunk, but will just plod along in the average way. . . . Felicitations to State Senator Chapman, who narrowly missed being a Fourth of July baby. . . . Victor Graziano, in bed with a full cast, at the Erie Veterans' Hospital, shown in a picture that appeared in one of the Lake City papers recently, would like to hear from friends in Warren. . . . Navy Is Handing Pacific Island Reins to Interior Department

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—On July 1, the United Nations Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands will pass from U. S. Naval government to civil administration, under the Department of Interior. Ex-Sen. Elbert Thomas of Utah, U. S. high commissioner of the Trust Territory, took over authority from Adm. Arthur W. Radford last February. Naval governing personnel have been replaced by civilians, though many of them are Navy reservists who have had experience in the Pacific.

Trust Territory government headquarters has been moved from Pearl Harbor to an unused, former Army post headquarters at Fort Ruger, also on Oahu, Hawaii. Eventually the seat of government may be moved to Saipan, 100 miles north of Guam. But that may be a long way off.

Ceremonies at the turnover of authority in Hawaii and in the five districts which make up the Trust Territory do serve to call attention to this vast new responsibility of the United States. It is vast in one respect only. It covers three million square miles of South Pacific Ocean. It's an area equal to the continental United States. THERE are only 52,000 people on these islands. But even this small number is divided into eight different cultural groups. Population: vary from 10,000 on Palau, to 14 on Meric I., near Yap. They vary: the way from a fairly high civilization and standard of living c Guam, down to the G-string and stone money level on Yap. High Commissioner Thomas has not yet visited the 96 islands of the territory over which he is to govern. When he does make his first inspection, it will take him two to three months to cover the area. He will travel on a new civilian-operated Trans-Ocean airline connecting the principal islands by a fleet of five converted Navy amphibian patrol bombers and by a new Pacific Micronesian shipping line, with one large and six smaller freight and passenger vessels. Even so, the Trust Territory will be an item of expense to the United States for as long as it holds the trusteeship. For the coming year, $6 million were budgeted to run the islands. Of this, $1.5 million were intended to start a 10-year program for permanent construction of power plants, docks, housing, schools and medical centers. Action is not yet final. Congressional economists are threatening to cut costs to some $4 million. Congress has yet to pass organic legislation giving the Trust Territory official status under U. S. government.

THOUGH Mary Martin, washing that man right out of her hair in "South Pacific," and the "Kon-Tiki" voyage have glamorized this whole ocean for a post-war world, it still remains an economic liability. Survivors of the bloody island-hopping war learned to hate each atoll devoutly. The island paradise stuff is overrated. White people who stay on the islands too long go "rock happy." The islands were a busy place under the Japanese between World Wars I and II. There were half a dozen shipping lines operating, a big fish trade, sugar mills and pineapple canneries. There were 100,000 people in the Marianas. But when all the Japanese were shipped back home at the end of the war, only 6000 natives were left. At Palau, which was the Jap capital for the islands, the Americans are now unfavorably compared because business is dead. Why does this country hang onto the islands? Principally to keep anybody else from holding them. The original attack on Pearl Harbor was launched from Jap naval bases in this area.

So the United States accepted the United Nations trusteeship over the territory and with it accepted responsibility for economic and cultural advancement of the people, and the promotion of their freedoms.

It was conservatively estimated that a crowd of between 3,500 and 4,000 witnessed the entertaining Variety Show presented by the Jaycees under the direction of Chuck Tranter and Johnny Newmaker with the assistance of Roy Schneek and a few of the other boys last evening at Beatty School.

The committee has pretty definite assurance that a number of Jet planes will visit Warren Wednesday afternoon appearing over War Memorial Field around one or two o'clock, and it is understood they will circle the field long enough for spectators to get a glimpse of them.

It was too bad Haas Hoover and his trained horse "Sparkles" could not have performed on the stage at Beatty school last evening instead of on the ground. The act is of the type that provides great entertainment for children. Morgan and Crosby, the Jamestown jugglers worked at a great disadvantage on the small stage with youngsters ranged around the edges of the floor, but their act was well received.

The Jaycees are still a way short of meeting the budget and it is hoped that everyone will show their appreciation of the fine program being presented, but contributing to the fund when approached in the usual manner during the remainder of the celebration.

The usual skirmish for canes is under way by members of the committee, division chiefs and aides. Any person having extra walking sticks they are willing to loan for the occasion is urged to have them at the Beebe restaurant between eight and nine o'clock tomorrow.

The committee is hopeful that the parade will be well decorated with flags and bunting tomorrow morning.

The usual rush for folding chairs, camp stools and "orange crates" is reported to be under way in Warren.

Early this afternoon it looked as if there would be five outstanding drum corps units competing in the Class A contest, and eleven in the Class C, adding up to the greatest show ever offered at War Memorial Field. There will be an admission at the gate, which will be used by the Jaycees to help meet the budget for the celebration of bugle corps is arriving during the night, and efforts were being made this afternoon to secure cots and other equipment for their use at the State Armory. Other musical organizations are coming from Olean, Lock Haven, Rochester, Jamestown, Buffalo, Erie, Johnstown, Dunkirk, Titusville, Salamanca, DuBois, Lakewood, Meadville, and other nearby places.

The committee has an unusual meeting scheduled for this evening at 9:30 o'clock at the American Legion Home in that the workers have been requested to bring their wives along. Indications are this will turn out to be a delightful party for all attending.

The reviewing stand for those who will judge the floats, marching units, and drum corps will be located on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, near the Hagans Motor Sales building, and Steve Massa, who is doing a good job of decorating for the event, stated today that streamers will be hung across Pennsylvania avenue at this point.

The judges for the floats will be Hon. Allison D. Wade, Mrs.

NO PAPER WEDNESDAY

The Times-Mirror family will be celebrating with the rest of the community hence there will be no issue of the paper Wednesday!

W. E. Rice, Mrs. Mildred Carter and Richard D. Smith. There will be four awards, divided as follows: $175, $125, $75 and $50.

A special committee has completed plans to feed approximately 1,000 visiting musicians, marchers and workers at the rear of Beatty school through the cooperation of the Lewis Catering Service. The schedule for this important project will be the same as in previous years, with the organizations disbanding at Beatty and marching to the rear lawn for lunch. Special buses will transport the drum corps units from Beatty to War Memorial Field.

The line of march will be the same as in previous parades, forming with the head at Union street and Pennsylvania avenue, going east to Conewango, north to Third avenue, and disbanding between Conewango avenue and Market street in Third.

For the full afternoon of colorful and thrilling entertainment at War Memorial Field beginning at one o'clock and continuing until approximately 5:00 or 5:30, there will be no reserved seats. The general admission will be the only expense to this elaborate program, and the money will be used by the Jaycees to help meet the budget expense of approximately $5,000.

Complete information about the parade, drum corps competition, judges, line of march, and participants will be found in "official orders" on page three, and it is suggested that the reader clip this section for future reference.

Jack Barr and Ben Kinnear in charge of the parade details, along with Marshal Ed Lowrey, issued a special appeal today to all division chiefs and aides to make certain that they are at their designated posts by ten o'clock in the morning. This especially applies to those who will be unable to be at the Beebe Restaurant for breakfast.

Capt. of Police Mike Evan has completed arrangements for handling the heavy traffic that is anticipated before and following the parade, as he has been doing with all events that have been staged since Saturday.

Although Wilson said a Korean cease-fire should make no difference in the preparedness program, Senator George (D-Ga.) said it unquestionably would affect the senate's attitude toward a steep tax increase.

"The mobilization program must go on," George told a reporter, "but there should be an end to the hysteria of giving the military everything it wants right now to the exclusion of the needs of the civilian economy."

Answer from Chinese and North Koreans Is Awaited

On the central front exhausted U. N. infantrymen captured the highest peak in the Chorwon-Pyongyang iron triangle after a three-day battle. But they failed to dislodge Chinese from neighboring hills from which the Reds poured a searing mortar barrage.

"Those hilltops looked like exploding volcanoes when our artillery hit," an officer said. "Those Chinese must be dug in deeper than at any other time of the war."

Sixty American jets and six B-29 Superfortresses bombed, rocketed and strafed the Pyongyang downtown airfield in the heart of the Red Korean capital. Returning pilots called it a terrific blow.

Ridgway's latest message brought a feeling of relief to U. S. Eighth Army headquarters. A. P. Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported, and a feeling that the shooting would come to an end.

However, news dispatches from Moscow and Washington suggested not too much should be expected in the immediate future from armistice moves.

Ridgway selected the earliest date mentioned by Red commanders—Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai of China. In reply to Ridgway's original message they had proposed meeting between July 10 and 15.

The Allied Commander picked July 10. He said his representatives were ready to meet earlier if the Communists would agree.

Wayne Painter, chairman of the Fire committee, reported that a petition filed by firemen last month asking for a cost-of-living wage increase, "has been taken under advisement."

A taxpayers petition asking installation of a sanitary sewer in a portion of Division street was referred to the New Projects and New Construction committee.

Agreements were approved between the borough and the Bell Telephone Company for installation of a two-way radio communication system in the police department's new patrol car and also for use of a utility pole for installation of traffic signal equipment.

Borough officials also were authorized to sell an old traffic signal control unit to the Borough of Youngville for $40.

The Police Department reported 591 arrests, mostly overtime stays at parking meters, during June, and the collection of fines totalling $362.50.

The Fire Department's report for the month of June listed 18 calls, all of them of a minor nature, and fire loss estimated at $70.

Parking meter collections for June totalled $1,976.05.

SNEAD HAS 5-HOLE LEAD OVER BURKEMO

Oakmont, July 3—(AP)—In a dazzling display of par-smashing golf, Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, Va., took a five-hole lead over Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., on the first nine holes of their 36-hole final match for the PGA championship today.

Snead rounded the turn in 34, three under par for the front half of the hilly Oakmont Country Club course.

Burkemo didn't win a hole of the first nine as he went out in 41. Par for the 6882-yard Oakmont course is 37-35-72.

Delay in Starting of Talks Causes Some Skepticism men they are estimated to have lost there.

Chinese Communist forces will probably refuse to leave North Korea until their North Korean allies are strong enough and so located as to counterbalance the South Korean force, now fighting with the U. N. team, which would remain in Korea after other Allied units left following a general peace settlement.

American officials conjecturing over the delayed dates suggested by the Communists stressed the obvious Chinese desire to put themselves in the most favorable position possible before the armistice talks commence.

These informants said the U. N. command is alert to the possibility the Reds are stalling for time in order to prepare for a fresh onslaught. Most officials believe, however, that the Chinese will live up to any strictly military agreement.

Shades of Great-Grandmama

Betty Lee display windows in Second avenue are featuring a "Cavalcade of Swim Suits" parade that shows American beach styles from the days of Grandmama's bustle to the latest styles being worn by Miss America from coast to coast in 1951.

These costumes were created by the manufacturers of Catalina swim suits from original patterns of 1870 up to 1931. When Great-Grandmama was a debutante back in 1870, she stepped on the sands of our beaches in a snappy "swim dress" that made her Queen of the Beach. Her arms were protected from the sun by long sleeves which buttoned tight at the wrist and her ankles were completely covered by long pantaloons.

A far cry from Grandmama's swim dress to the 1951 Catalina swim suits, are the hand-blocked prints aim fitting nylons and other fabrics. Catalina suits have come to be the universal choice of beauties who must wear the right suit are styled in California for the stars of Hollywood and of America, and are the official suit of the Atlantic City Miss America beauty pageant.

New Beans Give Bigger Harvest of Top Quality

If You Cannot Use All the Beans You Harvest, Put Them Up for Winter.

The beans which grandmother called "string beans," now known as "snap beans," because the strings long ago disappeared, are excellent for many uses. Market beans are usually flat pod, which yield better than the round pod; and the latter have the best quality.

Between the green and wax beans there are slight differences in vitamin content, the former excelling in vitamin A, the latter in vitamin B, but both are among our most nutritious foods. In recent years few wax beans have been seen in markets; but in the opinion of many they are more tender and, of better flavor than green beans.

Both for the table and for canning beans should be picked before seeds form, and not more than an hour before they are cooked.

Canning pod beans requires special precautions to kill the botulism germ, and before it is attempted the advice of canning experts should be sought.

It may be advisable to estimate your canning needs and sow a special row for putting up, so they can be harvested for that purpose. But always be ready to put up a few jars at a time, when there are more beans on the bushes than you need for the table.

Sam Snead Faces Walter Burkemo In Tourney Finals

Oakmont, July 3.—(AP)—If anyone ever had a chance to write a fabulous finish to a Cinderella story in golf, 32-year-old Walter Burkemo is the guy.

The strong-hearted blond from Franklin, Mich., today goes against the great Sam Snead, the par-busting West Virginian, in the 36-hole final for the 33rd professional golf championship.

And the startling angle is that the former Army sergeant, winner of two Purple Hearts as the result of World War II wounds, believes he has a good chance to win the title test over Oakmont's 6882 yards of heavily-trapped and treacherous terrain.

The experts point out the fact that Snead, two-time winner and twice runner-up in the professional fixture, is 18 under par for 136 holes of match play over this rain-soaked course, while Burkemo has been forced into extra holes by three of five opponents and is 10 over the card for 147 holes.

In yesterday's semi-finals, in which the losers picked up a $750 pay check, Snead was six under par in whipping Charley Bassler of Catonsville, Md., 9 and 8, one of the most impressive showings in the history of the classic.

Burkemo, two down with two to go against former tennis champion Ellsworth Vines, rallied to win the last two with a birdie and a par, and then copped the finals berth with a birdie on the first extra hole.

ENCORE—Here's a starting scene at the Darlington, S.C., International Raceway, site of a 250-mile big car championship race, July 4, featuring practically the same field which competed in the Indianapolis 500. Notable participants include, left to right above, Johnny Parsons; Henry Banks, last year's driving champion; Walt Brown and Tony Bettenhausen, who will drive the Belanger Special in which Lee Wallard won this year's Indianapolis classic. THE SCOREBOARD

The Fabulous and Forgotten Meeting at Historic Track

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(NEA)—When Goshen is mentioned, you think of the $50,000 Hambletonian, Aug. 8.

But little Goshen is also the home of the sportiest meeting ever conducted.

This is the five-day Grand Circuit show ending Friday afternoon, July 6. Get that?

Five week-day afternoons. Saturday is reserved for postponements and special events. This is the last of the trots under the sun.

E. Roland Harriman perpetuates half-mile Historic Track for his father, Edward H., the man who pioneered railroads west of the Mississippi. E. H. Harriman once rebuilt Historic Track, which is more than 100 years old. Gen. U. S. Grant watched races there before he was President.

The site was the grazing ground of imported Messenger, which founded the standardized bloodline. Hambletonian, the daddy of them all, was paraded there.

President of the Orange County Driving Park Association distributes $117,500 in purses while entertaining his friends and those really interested in the sulky sport.

OPENING day is ladies' day, says the Coaching Club Trotting Oaks for three-year-old fillies, worth $16,000; The Acorn, for two-year-old trotting fillies, $9,000; The Ladyship, for three-year-old pacing fillies, $10,000; and The Debutante, for two-year-old pacing fillies, $7,000.

The second day, July 3, brings out the E. H. Harriman Challenge Cup, for two-year-old trotters, $10,000. The $10,000 Historic Dickerson Cup, for three-year-old trotters, heads the program on the glorious fourth. The $10,000 Goshen Cup, for juvenile pacers, is the big number for July 5. The production closes with the $10,000 Trot for All and the $10,000 Orange County Cup, for three-year-old pacers.

Yet little or no attempt is made to publicize the fabulous and forgotten meeting tucked away in the hills 66 miles northwest of New York City.

The average attendance, 2500, ups to all of 4000 on Independence Day, but they come from all parts of the country.

The Historic Track meeting may be a well-guarded secret, but how most concerned about harness racing will watch Imperial Harver, July 4, when the boy Spencer Scott cut gem in the Historic Dickerson Cup.

Corpse on the Town

Chapter 23

"THE cabdriver asked, 'Where to?'"

Jigger said, "Go through the Midtown Tunnel."

Rolling Manhattanward, Red said, "You sure played God."

Jigger said dreamily, "Why punish her for working at her trade?"

Red made a noise with his mouth. "You're nuts," he said.

The cabdriver called out over his shoulder. "Now where to, mister?"

Jigger instructed, "The General Post Office."

Red said, "You're crazy if you expect to find that envelope waiting for you. We've stacked against somebody who moves with stopwatch timing."

"Got to take a look anyway. Red. If the envelope with the checking stub's gone, we'll assume the valise is gone too."

At the Manhattan end of the Midtown Tunnel, Red asked, "What comes after?"

"Back to Arenis. And this time with a lot more conviction. That phony cheer to the frontiers arms has him 'right out in the open now. We know Arenis fits somewhere in the plot."

"Maybe he hired the girl."

"Where would Arenis get a thousand dollars? Jigger shook his head. 'No. That was an assist for somebody else. Somebody abetted by Arenis, tried to knock our case over, befuddle us so completely that we'd have to call quits.'"

"Matthew Hunter."

Jigger smiled. Irony, if it turned out that Red was right. And doubly ironic if Matthew Hunter had been driven to hire a girl to masquerade as a daughter whom he had murdered.

Jigger said, "Stop plugging your candidate." His voice rose in optimism. "Anyhow, we trumped somebody's ace when we exposed the masquerade in the man's work. Red pointed to the taximeter. "How long do you expect to ride the wrong end of a taxi?"

Jigger laughed out loud.

Jigger peered through the window of G.P.O. Box 370. It was empty. He hurried through the revolving door and raced down the steps to the waiting taxi.

THE window of the Baroque Art Gallery arrested strollers like a riot of voodoo drums. The art displays in metals, woods, and oils were as tortured as a nightmare. One oil painting, centered in the snow window, was identified by a neatly inscribed card as "Teardrop Through the Eye of a Needle." The artist was Eric Arenis.

Jigger said thoughtfully, "Arenis was frazzled when I confronted him out here. He pulled Red toward the door of the gallery. 'Anyhow, who knows an artist better than a gallery owner? They've haggled over percentages, dislikes, personalities. The exhibitor is creditor, keeper, wetnurse, Boswell.'"

Red closed the door behind them.

A woman came up to Jigger and handed him a one-page catalogue. Jigger pointed to a hanging oil painting. "What's the price of that Arenis?"

"Just a moment," the woman said. She oinkered across the floor to a table and consulted a notebook.

"Twenty-five hundred dollars," she announced.

Jigger whistled. "Steep."

She looked at Jigger levelly, with a curious lack of expression, but said nothing. Jigger read from the catalogue. How about number 25 by the same artist? A page in the notebook turned.

"Twenty-five hundred dollars, sir." The "sir" was plainly as much of an epithet as she could permit herself.

Jigger read from the catalogue again. "Then how about number 37?"

Her hands worked the notebook impatiently. "Number 37 has been sold."

"For twenty-five hundred dollars?" Jigger's incredulity was un concealed.

The woman looked at him coldly. Jigger said dismally, "I'm really interested in the man's work. But the price? Can I see the gallery owner perhaps?"

She seemed disposed to refuse, but she said, "This way." Jigger followed her to a door in the rear of the gallery. She knocked lightly, then held the door open. "This is Mr. Sundemann," she announced.

Sundemann was short, roly poly, and wore the look of a scatterbrain in perpetual pursuit of some missing detail. He looked at Jigger morosely, as if this intrusion was a final straw.

Jigger smiled. "Sorry to intrude."

Sundemann motioned vaguely. "What can I do for you?"

"I'm interested in a painter you're showing, Eric Arenis."

"He is a fine painter—Arenis." It was said automatically. Then Sundemann looked at Jigger sharply, suddenly stirred to interest. "You want to buy him?"

Jigger nodded. "But the price is discouragingly high."

Sundemann shook his head. "The price is the artist's." A shoulder heisted and lowered. "He wants so much, and we try to get so much for him."

"But $2500, if you'll pardon me—for a downtown gallery, and an obscure painter—?"

Sundemann nodded sympathetically. "High, I agree. Rich man's price. But we got it." He held up two fingers. "Twice already, in the same week; and by a collector who is never foolish." The shoulders worked. "Eric Arenis is being discovered."

Jigger asked, "Did the same collector buy both paintings?"

The dealer nodded.

Jigger asked mildly, "Who is the collector?"

Sundemann started to reply, but stopped. "I am not at liberty to reveal his name."

Jigger lifted his brows. "What's so special and secret about purchasing an art?"

Sundemann smiled weakly. "Nothing. But if a buyer wants everything confidential—" A shoulder heisted.

"Do you think he might drop his price?"

Sundemann shook his head. "The artist fixed the price himself. Twenty-five hundred, and not a penny less; Arenis swore we would get his price."

"He was that sure of a demand for his work?"

"We got the artist's price, twice." And weren't you surprised when it happened, Mr. Sundemann?"

"Frankly, yes; a little surprised." (To be continued)

The Fabulous and Forgotten Meeting at Historic Track

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(NEA)—When Goshen is mentioned, you think of the $50,000 Hambletonian, Aug. 8.

But little Goshen is also the home of the sportiest meeting ever conducted.

This is the five-day Grand Circuit show ending Friday afternoon, July 6. Get that?

Five week-day afternoons. Saturday is reserved for postponements and special events. This is the last of the trots under the sun.

E. Roland Harriman perpetuates half-mile Historic Track for his father, Edward H., the man who pioneered railroads west of the Mississippi. E. H. Harriman once rebuilt Historic Track, which is more than 100 years old. Gen. U. S. Grant watched races there before he was President.

The site was the grazing ground of imported Messenger, which founded the standardized bloodline. Hambletonian, the daddy of them all, was paraded there.

President of the Orange County Driving Park Association distributes $117,500 in purses while entertaining his friends and those really interested in the sulky sport.

OPENING day is ladies' day, says the Coaching Club Trotting Oaks for three-year-old fillies, worth $16,000; The Acorn, for two-year-old trotting fillies, $9,000; The Ladyship, for three-year-old pacing fillies, $10,000; and The Debutante, for two-year-old pacing fillies, $7,000.

The second day, July 3, brings out the E. H. Harriman Challenge Cup, for two-year-old trotters, $10,000. The $10,000 Historic Dickerson Cup, for three-year-old trotters, heads the program on the glorious fourth. The $10,000 Goshen Cup, for juvenile pacers, is the big number for July 5. The production closes with the $10,000 Trot for All and the $10,000 Orange County Cup, for three-year-old pacers.

Yet little or no attempt is made to publicize the fabulous and forgotten meeting tucked away in the hills 66 miles northwest of New York City.

The average attendance, 2500, ups to all of 4000 on Independence Day, but they come from all parts of the country.

The Historic Track meeting may be a well-guarded secret, but how most concerned about harness racing will watch Imperial Harver, July 4, when the boy Spencer Scott cut gem in the Historic Dickerson Cup.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

GOOD PLAYER NEVER FORCES DECLARER

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Some players react to a long suit as a cat does to catnip. The result is usually more pleasant to cats than to bridge players.

South, in today's hand, looked lovingly at his long spades, doubled East's shabby overcall with resentment, and declined to let the double of one no-trump stay in. He just had to play the hand at spades.

It was a poor idea to run out of one no-trump doubled. West would have suffered a loss of 300 or 500 points without much of a struggle.

As it was, West opened the five of diamonds, and dummy won with the queen. Declarer next led a trump from dummy. East naturally played low, and South finessed the eight. This lost to West's queen, much to South's disgust.

West led another diamond, and dummy won with the king. Now South decided that East must have all the high cards since his spades were obviously very weak. Hence he led a heart from dummy and put up the king from his hand.

West won with the ace of hearts, and South looked accusingly at East. West next led a third round of diamonds, dummy played the ace, and East ruffed.

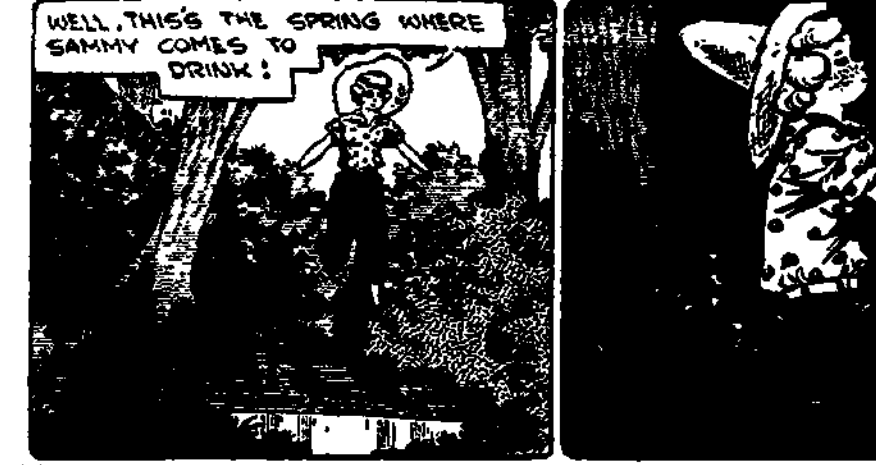

South should have over-ruffed and should have tried to make as many ruffs as possible. Instead he discarded the losing heart. At this point the defenders had three tricks.

East led the queen of hearts, and South ruffed. Now he made the fatal mistake of laying down the ace of trumps. The rest was just hopeless. East was bound to get his ace of clubs and two trumps.

There was no excuse for laying down the ace of trumps. West was marked with only a singleton trump since he had run out of one spade doubled.

Correct play is to ruff the queen of hearts and lead a club to dummy's queen. East's best play is to win and return a club. Dummy wins, and declarer cashes a heart and ruffs a heart or a diamond. Now he has three trumps, and so does East. A low trump gives one

PLAYTIME—Scenes like this are typical at all six of the municipal playgrounds. These photos were snapped by the Times-Mirror photographer at the Memorial Field play area, opened for the first time this year after the playground at South Street School was discontinued.

Attendance figures for the week of June 25-30 show a total of 7,774, according to Director Inez Rudolph, who states handcraft and needlecraft have been started at all play areas, also jackstone and tether-ball tournaments. The following playgrounds will have mush-ball teams: girls at Beaty, Crescent, Lacy and West Side; boys at War Memorial Field, Lacy and Beaty.

The wading pool at Crescent has not yet been filled but it is hoped to have it in operation on the first nice warm day. Children at Beaty, West Side and War Memorial Field are looking forward to wading pools at their playgrounds.

INSPIRATION FOR INDEPENDENCE DAY

As we celebrate our Independence, may we remember this: youngsters develop their ideas, principles and devotion to American tradition largely through the examples set by older folks.

Let us all so live that every act of ours will be an inspiration to the boys and girls upon whom the future of America depends.

State Police Call Attention to Ban Against Fireworks

Harrisburg—The Pennsylvania State Police have issued a warning regarding the unlawful possession, sale and use of fireworks.

The Pennsylvania fireworks law makes illegal the sale, offering for sale, or use of any fireworks except paper caps and devices in which they are detonated, unless such use is in the form of a supervised public display, in which case a permit is required to be obtained from the municipality in which the display is to be held. The law defines the term "municipality" as any city, borough, incorporated town and township. A fine or jail sentence, or both, may be imposed upon any person, co-partnership, association or corporation violating the provisions of the law.

"The passing of the Pennsylvania fireworks law in 1939 regulating the use of fireworks has been responsible for the saving of many lives and much needless suffering," said Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, State Police commissioner. "We intend to continue strict enforcement of the provisions of this law."

The Pennsylvania State Police, any sheriff, police officer, or constable has power to seize, take, remove or cause to be removed at the expense of the owner all stocks of fireworks or combustibles offered or exposed for sale, stored or held in violation of this act.

How many "Independence Days" have we left?

"We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed..."

Immortal words from the Declaration of Independence, adopted on the first 4th of July, just 175 years ago.

THESE WORDS are the stones upon which man built history's greatest work—the United States of America. Remember them well!

"... all men are created equal..." That means you are as important in the eyes of God as any man ever brought into this world. You are made in His image and likeness. There is no "superior" man anywhere.

"... they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights..." Here is your birthright—the freedom to live, work, worship and vote as you choose. These are rights no government on earth may take from you.

"... That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men..." Here is the reason for and the purpose of government. Government is but a servant—not a master—not a giver of anything.

"... deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed..." In America, the government may assume only the powers you allow it to have. It may assume no others.

From Concord to Korea, your kinsmen have fought and died for the principles of America's Declaration of Independence: belief in God... belief in the God-given rights of man... belief that man is more important than government... belief in the vital need for morality in all men does.

But on this Independence Day, as never before, these beliefs are in deadly peril. There are people in America who would deny your God-given rights, who prefer expediency to morality, and who would make government the master—not the servant—of man. These people are the advocates of an all-powerful, all-providing socialistic government to control your destiny from cradle to grave.

The time has come to answer them with your own "Declaration of Independence"...

Declare that government is responsible TO you—rather than FOR you.

Declare that freedom is more important to you than "security" or "survival."

Declare again that the rights God gave you may not be taken away by any government on any pretext.

Our founding fathers accepted the truths of America's Declaration on faith alone. Today, our nation is proof—absolute and irrevocable—that these truths work. They are the last great hope for the protection of human civilization.

FREEDOM NEEDS YOU

In this 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, help give the day the spiritual, religious meaning it had to the founding fathers.

Your faith and allegiance to the immortal truths stated in the Declaration. Make them an active part of your thinking, your acting, your voting.

Pray for help in maintaining man's closeness to God, in preserving man's God-given rights and responsibilities against those who would make you dependent upon a socialistic, all-powerful government.

"... we need only to recall that the substance of (America's) formula is continuous, strict and closely guarded limitations upon the power of government. Neither the peril of war nor the promise of welfare must ever serve to relax any item of this formula..."

From "The Key to Peace" by Dean Clarence Manion, College of Law, Notre Dame University, published by The Heritage Foundation.
